VCAP Tips For Success

Most adults feel apprehensive about returning to the classroom. The truth is most adults do very well, and, because they are older they usually enjoy it more. The following hints are designed to help you be successful.

- Attend a VCAP Informational Workshop.
- Enroll in both the 1st and 2nd sessions at the beginning of the semester.
- Meet with the VCAP counselor, to create an education plan, to insure your successful graduation or transfer.
- Attend all classes. Accelerated classes proceed at twice the rate of regular semester classes, so when you skip class it's twice as difficult to make up missed time and material.
- Exchange telephone numbers or email addresses with other students. Start a study group.
- Review class notes as soon as possible after a class to increase retention.
- Communicate with the instructor, as so many problems can be resolved with one on one communication.
- Study when you are at your best. Are you an afternoon person? A night person? Research indicates that setting a quiet, separate place in your home for studying is an effective strategy.
- Set reasonable study goals. After two hours of studying one's effectiveness is affected. Take breaks often.
- Ask about the many resources available with tutoring services, such as the Writing Center, Learning Center and Math, Geology and Nursing Labs.
