VCAP Tips for Success

Most adults feel apprehensive about returning to the classroom. The truth is most adults do very well because they are more mature and usually enjoy school more. The following hints are designed to help you be successful in VCAP.

- Enroll in first and second sessions at the start of the semester, as VCAP classes fill quickly.
- Process add slips as soon as you obtain them, as the VCAP program has different drop/add dates than the regular program.
- Meet with a counselor to create an Education Plan to insure your successful graduation or transfer.
- Attend all classes. Accelerated classes proceed at twice the rate of regular semester classes, so when you skip class it's twice as difficult to make up missed time and material.
- Exchange telephone numbers or email addresses with other students.
- Start a study group.
- Review class notes as soon as possible after a class to increase understanding and retention.
- Communicate with the instructor; many problems can be resolved with one on one communication.
- Study when you are at your best. Are you an afternoon person? A night person? Research indicates that having a quiet, separate study place in your home is an effective strategy.
- Set reasonable study goals. After two hours of studying concentration diminishes. Take breaks often.
