III. Discussion Items

- a) Environmental Literacy and Sustainability – L. Nalepa explained that the impetus for creating a chart of “green” courses came from the CTE Deans meeting where each CTE Dean was asked for information. She had to report out information to that body. Furthermore, then Vice Chancellor, Marvin Martinez, allocated VTEA funds to each college specifically for the purpose of creating or modifying curriculum to be “green”. Laurie explained that she felt that it needed to be clear to faculty receiving grants what criteria must be met. She developed some categories and required that the outlines meet at least one criteria.

IV. Items from the Floor

- a) Program Viability Process – a workgroup of PEPC would like a VCCC member to participate in the development of this process. There were no volunteers.
- b) Program Review Handbook – workgroup of PEPC is revising the handbook and needs feedback on the curriculum portion. M. Lewis and R. Reis volunteered to work on the curriculum portion of the program review handbook.
