

Meet your Embedded Tutor Paula!

Hey everyone, Paula here! I'm your friendly neighborhood physics tutor, Mechanical Engineering major, and weird hobby enthusiast. I'm a former Hollywood practical effects technician with a background in both the arts and the sciences.

Although my career goals involve fostering space exploration and research, I consider myself a lifelong student and I learn from my students as much as I teach them. You guys inspire me, and in return I hope to inspire you as well. The only silly question is the question that does not get asked, so come to me with every question you have!

"Absorb what is useful, discard what is not, add what is uniquely your own." – Bruce Lee