31	My child entered the program knowing how to read and basic addition however, I've been told by instructors that there is intentionally (and rather resultely) that there is absolutely no focus on teaching or promoting standard scholastics; while I understand their educational approaches and reasoning and logic, I am afraid of my child's attitude growing stagnate and feel that my child's potential is understimulated, and that there was an increased promotion of each individual's child's basic education from their current level, rather than (the current) lack of 3R's bothering him until other kids catch up in years.	4/15/2014 9:58 AM
